VOL. XLIX

LEXINGTON, LAFAYETTE COUNTY, MISSOURI, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1919.

NUMBER 49.

Inez Shelby-Bell.

Death has again visited this community and this time has taken from our midst the beloved wife of Jasper S. Bell. What makes her death more sad is that only about three weeks since she gave birth to a baby boy at the hospital in David City. For some time afterwards she didn't seem to get along well as was expected; but was feeling better and on Friday morning last, November 21, she was laughing and joking with her attendants in the hospital and was planning for her return to Bellwood, when, without even giving her husband a chance to reach her, she suddenly expired, a clot of blood in the heart seemingly the cause. Deceased was born August 30, 1888, in Lexington, Missouri. She was married to Jasper S. Bell of Bellwood, November 27, 1909, at Lexington, Missouri. A little daughter, Marjorie, and infant son survive her. What made her death still more sad, was that on the day of her death her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Shelby, arrived on the evening train in Bellwood, from Lexington with the expectation of visiting a few weeks with their daughter and son-in-law and when the sad news of their daughter's death was mentioned their hearts were stung as with a dagger. She also leaves a brother, Albert M. Shelby, who resides in Long Beach, California, and who was present at her funeral. James J. Roberts of Long Beach, California, a brother-in-law, was also present. Deceased was formerly connected with the Christian church at Lexington, Missouri. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse D. Bell, conducted by Rev. J. W. Waits, of Grand Island, formerly pastor of the Bellwood M. E. church. A quartette from David City, consisting of Mrs. Ed. Hall, Mrs. L. C. Harris, Dr. Sturdevant and Mr. Rosenstock who are old friends of the family, sang "Remember Now Try Creator," "Sometime We'll Understand" and "Near to the Heart of God." Mrs. Arthur Davenport presided at the piano. The floral tributes of love and respect for the departed one, were many and beautiful. On Thursday morning her body was taken by train to Lincoln and placed in a vault in Wyuka cemetery. Husband, children and parents have the sympathy of this entire community. —Bellwood (Nebr.) Gazette.

The body of the deceased accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Shelby together with Mr. Bell and his little family, will be taken to Long Beach, Calif., for burial. They start Saturday.

John R. Pinkerton.

John Ryland Pinkerton, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Pinkerton, of Hillsboro, died at the family home on West Main Street, Sunday morning, Nov. 16, 1919, after an illness of a week. He was born at Greeley, Nebraska, Jan. 2, 1904, and with parents came to Hillsboro in 1915. He is survived by his parents and two brothers, Harold, aged 13, and Duane, aged 8, and a sister, Cornelia, aged 11.

His father is the Western Union operator at the city station, Southern Pacific.

He was a popular youth, ambitious beyond his strength, and had a host of friends in the city. For several months prior to entering school this fall, he worked for the Reynolds & Parks grocery, and about three weeks ago was appointed to handle the evening Journal in this city.

The funeral took place Monday afternoon, at 2:30, from the M. E. Church, Rev. Walton Skipworth conducting the services, with Undertaker Limber in charge. There was a profusion of flowers, indicative of the high esteem in which the High School student was held by the High School. The pall bearers were classmates.

Rarely was it the lot of a young man to have so high regard in his community, and one who was close to him in his school work has written the following eulogy on his life:

"Altho John Ryland Pinkerton had lived in Hillsboro only a portion of his short life, he had endeared himself to all with whom he had come in contact. All his friends, and all his teachers, have nothing but words of praise for the lad who so short a time ago, was a part of their busy life. And how vital a part of that life he was they are just beginning to realize; for the since a serious illness two years ago, he has been unable to participate actively in some of the school affairs, yet so great was his interest in them, and so complete was his classmates' confidence in him, that he had been elected to positions of trust and importance, not only in his own, the Junior Class at school, but in nearly every phase of school activities, and he had never failed to carry out their duties in a successful manner.

He was exceptionally remarkable in his school work and had every promise for a brilliant and successful career, but more than this, he had the qualities which make for friendship and trust.

He leaves a host of friends, both old and young, to grieve and wonder at his untimely death.

His life with us was indeed short, but his memory shall live long in the hearts of those who loved him.—Reprinted from a Hillsboro paper.

The deceased was a grandson of Judge Xenophon Ryland of Higginsville.

Bonds to Keep People Well.

The sale of Red Cross Christmas seals, opened on December 1, will be enlivened this year by the opportunity given to purchasers to buy "Health Bonds" along with the gay little stamps which carry their message of helpfulness on letters and parcels.

The National Tuberculosis Association, which, in conjunction with state and city association, is conducting the sale, the proceeds of which go to stamp out tuberculosis in this county, is offering 650,000,000 of these seals. More than 35,000,000 will be sold in Missouri. This is at the rate of ten seals per capita.

It is not expected that buyers will stop with ten seals. Business houses will use them on their mail; public utilities on their bills. Hotels will paste them on their menus; department stores will imprint them on each package wrapped.

Many individuals will give more money than can be represented in stamps for their personal use. To these, "health bonds" are offered as a substitute. For example one who gives $50 and does not wish 5000 seals may take a bond for that amount. Bonds of $5, $10, and up to $50 may be purchased.

These bonds were put on sale December first.
